/06 Takeaways

Global Position of UK	While domestic streaming share faces pressure from foreign repertoire, the UK maintains its status as the world's #3 recorded music revenue market (despite ranking #6 in streaming volume). High ARPU and subscriber engagement preserve the UK's position as Europe's premier commercial launchpad for global IP
UK Fandom & Genre Dynamics	UK music listeners demonstrate deepening engagement (79% reach, 13 hours weekly, £83 monthly spend). Significant domestic over-indexing in Alt Rock (14.0%), Dance (9.7%), and R&B (6.1%) gives UK independent labels a strong foundation to build high-converting, dedicated superfan bases.
Exporting to the U.S.	The UK is successfully bucking Western domestic fatigue by capturing market share inside the United States (+0.8 percentage point gain to 7.8% share in H1 2026). Led by breakout acts like Olivia Dean, British talent commands superior cross-border exportability into the world's most lucrative music ecosystem.
Monetizing the U.S. Physical Superfan	U.S. physical buyers require demographic-targeted execution: deploy youth-targeted Vinyl strategies (47% of vinyl buyers are under 34) and robust CD distribution for older demographics (50% aged 45+), while leveraging live touring (festival-goers spend +49% more on physical) and independent record stores as primary conversion hubs.
